The Black Jewels! It is some dark fantasy novels and short stories compiled by Anne Bishop. The series takes invest a world where those born with dark power/magic rule in a deeply matriarchal society. You will love it!

The title The Memory of Light originated from a poem that Vicky wrote after she returned home. The poem stumbled on her when she asleep and she wrote it when she woke up. Sometimes whenever we have no hope, when all is dark in our lives, what saves us, what we can keep working, is the memory of something good within our lives. Hope then is the memory of light. That’s what the title means to me but read the poem and see what it may mean to you. What do you consider is really a memory of light in Vicky’s life? In your lifetime? Take care.

Yes, that is clearly a good word for it. The Practice House is literal for Charlotte (and to some extent Lavinia), and allegorical for all the other females, including Neva. I wrote concerning the title in a article after readers started questioning the title (which they have an ideal right to complete, of course). Although just one character ultimately teaches home ec in a place called the practice house, all of the women practice house-keeping and homemaking in an effort to produce themselves and others feel at home and happy. The Practice House is both a literal place in the novel and an proven fact that every female character has to reckon with.

I suggest waiting before letting them read this book. It has some content more suited for 13+, at the youngest 12 years. It is a romance novel categorized in Young Adult. Your students should wait many years before reading it.

What order would you recommend I read your books in for the full experience without spoilers for the others? I know they say they are mostly stand-alone, but I peen hammer and there is also the club series. I just like to know the order. Thanks!

It's funny how so many women are hating this book, and it appears they mainly hate Quentin. This is about a teenager who is lost, depressed, and going through a tough time mentally. If that doesn't interest you, and you don't want to step in the mind of a troubled man, don't read this book. Am I the only one who didn't like it, but it wasn't because of Quentin...?

Hi Gwen, I got a postcard from you today and I wanted to talk with you about the printing. It was raining here and all the ink ran. Please visit my site. I do artwork and printing for authors and it's very affordable. cheryl-rae.com

Hello! I am from Philippines. Is there any way I can have a copy of this book?
